At KPMG, we look at more than just your academic results. We will review your application, together with your performance in our assessments, to ensure that you have the best opportunity to demonstrate your potential. We will be considering your strengths and achievements against KPMG's capabilities alongside a number of other metrics, including technical background and/or experience, to ensure that you have the skills to succeed at KPMG.

At times of disruption, we support our clients to adapt to rapidly-changing business landscapes. Side-by-side, we work with them to navigate uncertainty. Because wherever there are challenges, we see possibilities.

By understanding the issues they face and drawing upon our legal expertise along with the wider KPMG capabilities, we're reimagining law. We're looking for new opportunities and delivering digitally-driven solutions that will help our clients evolve and thrive in a new world.

At the heart of this change are our people – collaboration is pivotal to everything we do. Our approach allows us to supply rounded legal solutions inspired by a deep industry knowledge and business insights from our wider practice areas of Tax, Consulting and Deal Advisory. All supported by a global legal network operating in 81 countries with access to more than 2,800 legal professional colleagues worldwide. It's this multi-disciplinary approach that sets us apart and which, from day one, will give you the opportunity to experience a broad range of legal projects with exposure to the wider KPMG network, here and abroad.

Working with some of the world's biggest companies, you could find yourself on projects ranging from Business Structuring, Regulatory Compliance and Contentious & Disputed Matters, right through to Deals & Finance, Workforce & People and Data, Digital and Technology. Underpinning all our work is our innovative use of technology. Our legal trainees have access to advanced digital solutions and we actively encourage a strong technology focus.

If you want to be part of shaping the future of law in a career that's full of intellectually stimulating work and variety, you're in the right place. You'll work alongside, and learn from, some of the brightest minds as you rotate across a number of practice areas and help to solve some of our clients' most complex legal and business problems. You'll use your natural curiosity, digital mindset and desire to work together to explore new ideas and deliver exceptional results.

The work can be challenging at times, but in return for your commitment, you'll be supported through your professional qualifications so you can develop all the skills you need to fulfil your potential. You'll also be encouraged to make a difference through volunteering days and community initiatives as part of an agile, inclusive environment where everyone is encouraged to be themselves, and empowered to be their best.

In depth

As a KPMG Law trainee, you'll rotate into a number of legal specialisms over your 27-month training contract. This will include areas such as Contentious & Disputed Matters where we resolve regulatory-driven claims and disputes with public authorities.

In Business Structuring, Reorganisation & Change, you could find yourself collaborating with our clients to structure and implement business or group change, enabling them to stay relevant, compliant and competitive. Or within Private and Family Office, helping our high net worth clients to manage their private affairs.

And in Workforce & People Solutions you could be helping to provide legal solutions to support our clients' workforce such as immigration and employment law - you'll work with resourcing experts and technologies to combine strategic business insight with practical legal advice.

Careers in KPMG Law

The remit of KPMG Law is broad – and it's global. The legal expertise we provide is robust and reflective of our commitment to delivering the best outcomes for our clients. Our ability to see things from our clients' perspectives means we don't just focus on the small details; we also look at the bigger commercial picture.

The work you do here will be varied. With responsibility from day one, your first rotation could see you working on a compliance project, or you might be advising on a situation that's arisen because of a macro-economic or regulatory issue, such as a transaction or contentious matter. It could be that you're using your skills to help organisations transform by employing new technologies or rethinking how they operate.

It's all about helping clients to achieve their business outcomes.

Our global client base and the breadth of what we do makes this an exciting place to be, and as we're going through a rapid period of growth, this also means more opportunities for you to develop your career in the direction you choose. Put simply, KPMG Law gives you real scope to build a law career that's everything you're looking for – and more.

Training and development

The training, development and regulation of our professionals is critical to the future success of our business which is why our people are trained to become experts in their field and supported to study for a professional qualification. All our new legal graduate entrants study for the Solicitors Qualifying Exam 1 and 2 (SQE) with the Solicitors Regulation Authority (SRA).

Throughout the 27-month training contract you will gain a broad experience, rotating across our main business solutions. This will provide you with the skills and knowledge to enable you to specialise in one of these areas upon qualifying as a solicitor. Our graduate programmes offer a permanent contract, which progresses upon successful qualification.

Trainees who apply to regional office vacancies will be given the additional opportunity to relocate to the London office for a period of 6-12 months to ensure a breadth of experience and to build important networks.
